Children Who Know Their Offender

In most cases, the dangers to children are not from strangers, they are from someone the parent or victim knows, and someone who is often trusted by the victim and family. Over 90% of children know the person who abused them.

Survivors of Abuse & Neglect

The majority of cases seen at the CACs in North Dakota involve an allegation of sexual abuse. In fact, more than one in ten of all substantiated victim abuse and neglect referrals to social service agencies nationwide are victims of sexual abuse.
